

Forms eligible for eSignature – Standard & Expanded List

Schwab allows you to send completed forms to your clients to review, electronically sign, and submit forms to Schwab for processing using your own DocuSign license. Electronic signatures are accepted on the majority of new account forms, many maintenance forms, and certain managed account forms. The list of acceptable forms and any conditions for eSignature is available in the table below.

A list of ineligible forms can be found here.

Some forms are only eligible for eSignature under certain circumstances. Review the Conditions column in the table below to determine if additional requirements must be met.

 Forms highlighted in orange require the 2nd DocuSign Addendum to be in place and all requirements met – including verbal authorization from the client.

Ineligible forms

- If a form that is not eligible for eSignature is sent to Schwab, the form will not be processed.
- Your firm's forms, which may include Investment Policy Statements, Advisor Agreements, or other forms and agreements between your firm and the client.
 - Note: If your firm's forms are included in an envelope with Schwab forms, you must use the DocuSign Document Visibility feature to ensure these forms are not sent to Schwab. If Schwab receives an envelope that contains advisor forms, we will not process the Schwab forms.
- Forms listed above that indicate that a notary is required are eligible for eSignature without being notarized. If these forms are submitted via paper, then they must be notarized.
- Handwritten forms or advisor-written letters of authorization.
- Forms signed electronically using your own DocuSign account where forms were sent to Schwab not using the DocuSign carbon copy method. (i.e. eSigned forms cannot be faxed, emailed or submitted using a Service Requests on Schwab Advisor Center).
- Forms eSigned outside of the designated signature fields
- Forms to open international accounts or domestic accounts with international elements
